

EIGHT WEEKS TO KEYS, IN ORDER

The Complete Moving Guide

A move is three problems: deciding what goes, getting it there, and being able to live in the new place on night one. Work backwards from moving day.

EIGHT WEEKS OUT

---

- Book movers, get three quotes
- Measure doorways and stairwells at both ends
- Start the declutter, room by room, hardest first
- Photograph anything valuable before it is wrapped

FOUR WEEKS OUT

---

- Order supplies, overbuy boxes and underbuy tape at your peril
- Begin packing what you will not need
- Change of address: bank, insurance, school, medical
- Arrange time off for the day before, not only the day

ONE WEEK OUT

---

- Pack a first-night box per person, keep it with you
- Confirm the movers in writing
- Defrost the freezer
- Set aside cleaning supplies, do not pack them

MOVING DAY

---

- Walk the empty house before you leave, every cupboard
- Keep documents, keys and medication on your person
- Photograph the meters at both properties
- Feed whoever helps you

YOUR FIRST-NIGHT BOX

---

Name what has to be reachable at 10pm on moving day without opening a single other box.

---

---

---

We build these systems for you.

Most people know which area is weakest. What they lack is the two uninterrupted weeks it takes to fix it. That is the part we do: we build it, document it in English and Spanish, train the people who use it, and stay on to adjust it.

Book a consultation at sortandplace.com