

FROM OPERATOR TO OWNER

The Household CEO Planner

Most household managers are operators: doing the work as it arrives. The shift is to owning the system that decides what gets done and by whom.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW, TWENTY MINUTES

- | | |
|--|---|
| ☐ What broke this week and why | ☐ What can be handed off |
| ☐ What is coming that needs preparation | ☐ What can stop entirely |

DECIDE ONCE, NOT REPEATEDLY

- | | |
|---|--|
| ☐ Standing grocery order | ☐ Set meal rotation for weeknights |
| ☐ Fixed cleaning day | ☐ Written standard per recurring task |

WHAT TO HAND OFF FIRST

- | | |
|---|--|
| ☐ Anything with a clear finished state | ☐ Anything that does not need your judgement |
| ☐ Anything repeated weekly | ☐ Not the thing you dislike most, the thing easiest to describe |

MEASURE ONLY WHAT CHANGES BEHAVIOUR

- | | |
|---|---|
| ☐ Did the reset happen | ☐ Did anyone have to ask you where something was |
| ☐ Did anything run out | |

YOUR FIRST HANDOFF

Name the task and who takes it. If you cannot describe finished, it is not ready to hand off.

We build these systems for you.

Most people know which area is weakest. What they lack is the two uninterrupted weeks it takes to fix it. That is the part we do: we build it, document it in English and Spanish, train the people who use it, and stay on to adjust it.

Book a consultation at sortandplace.com